DEATH OF CHARLES EDWARDS IS SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 4.—Allan Maxey Hiller, brother-in-law of Charles Edwards, the New York man who was shot to death [illegible] morning Tuesday night while at the home of Charles A. Hiller, another brother-in-law, was locked up at police headquarters tonight for a short time by order of Coroner Mix. It was later explained by this official that he wanted have Mr. Hiller handy on the resumption of the inquest later in the evening and that Mr. Hiller was simply held as a witness. This action was taken at the end of a sitting of the coroner's inquest of about five hours.

News of the coroner's action spread like wildfire, and the general supposition was reached that Mr. Hiller had been placed under arrest. At 9 o'clock the inquest was resumed, and among the witnesses called were Mrs. Maxey Hiller, Charles Hiller and Maxey Hiller.

It is understood that the examination of witnesses did not develop any special features. The questioning was mostly as to family affairs of the Hillers. It is understood that the coroner has found that Mr. Edwards had of-[illegible] told his friends that Maxey Hiller had made threats against him.

Medical Examiner Bartlett, who was in charge of the autopsy, has prepared his report. It was determined that Mr. Edwards died from a bullet wound which could not have been self-inflicted. It has been found that not only was there a bitter disagreement between the Hillers and Mrs. Edwards over the estate of Mrs. Abigail Hiller, but that Mr. Edwards had repeatedly told friends that he expected trouble by violence. The coroner has not yet found the weapon used in the shooting, in spite of the tight search made for it, even to overhauling the cold Hiller [illegible] by plumbers and carpenters.

The inquest was adjourned until tomorrow. Maxey Hiller left the coroner's office and entered a hack and was driven to his home. Coroner Mix said Maxey Hiller was not under arrest, and there was no charge against him.

At the close of the inquest tonight there seemed to be more mystery attached to the case than at any previous time. It is understood that no direct evidence bearing on the actual shooting has been produced.

DOUBASSOFF SAYS MOSCOW CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING

MOSCOW, Jan. 4.—Against the brilliant conduct of the troops and police, the resistance of the insurgents in Moscow has been shattered. Their leaders have been dispersed and are fleeing in disorder. Many of their chiefs have been arrested and the others have fled.

With these words Governor General Doubassoff begins a long account of the rising here which he issued today. Continuing the account says:

"Though organized revolt has been crushed, some of the most desperate fanatics remain and continue to fire on the troops. I cannot suffer the shadow of this terror to hang over the people during the joyful Christmas festival. I have therefore given positive orders that by Christmas eve (next Saturday according to the Russian calendar) every quarter of the city must be swept clean of the last traces of the revolution."

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—Boxes containing 4,500 revolver cartridges [illegible] from Austria have been seized at a railroad station at Odessa. Among the arms captured by the troops at Moscow were three automatic guns of English manufacture.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—Emperor Nicholas has sent $50,000 to Governor General Doubassoff for the relief of needy sufferers of the revolt at Moscow.

Dispatches from Taganerog and Rostoff on Don report continued fighting in the revolutionary movement in which several persons have been killed or wounded.

At Radom in Russian Poland, a bomb was thrown at the chief of police while he was walking in the street with his wife. The latter was killed and the chief was terribly injured, both of his legs being torn off by the explosion. Some bystanders were also injured.

EARTHQUAKES

PANAMA, Jan. 4.—In the past 10 days several severe earthquake shocks have been felt in both Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

"CONEY ISLAND" RESORT IN IVYWILD TO COST $75,000

Alderman John J. Coughlin of Chicago Will Open Recreation Grounds and Zoo About July 1---Work Has Already Been Begun.

Colorado Springs is to have a "Coney Island" resort.

John J. Coughlin, Chicago's famous alderman, has made arrangements to turn his Cheyenne Springs ranch, at Broadmoor, into a playground for young and old. Approximately $75,000 will be spent on the work which was started Monday under the direction of F. W. Harland, an amusement manager of Milwaukee.

The grounds, which will be known as the Cheyenne Springs Park and Zoo, will be opened to the public about July 1. A small admission will be charged to adults, but children with their guardians will be admitted free of charge.

Mr. Coughlin has announced positively that he will allow no intoxicating liquors to be sold on the grounds. A number of refreshment parlors will be built about the park, but there will be no saloons.

A gang of 20 men under Mr. Harland, who is one of the best known amusement promoters in the country, began work Monday building an old mill. This will be 2,000 feet in length and will run from a point near the present driveway entrance to Mr. Coughlin's ranch past the large barns to the west of the entrance. The mill will run up hill at a five per cent grade, the water and power being furnished by Cheyenne Creek. It will take three months to complete the mill.

Besides the mill, Mr. Coughlin will install a merry-go-round, a shoot the chutes, a large zoo containing everything from an elephant to a canary bird, a band stand, a number of cafes and ice cream parlors. Mr. Harland said yesterday that the amusements together with the animals to be imported for the zoo and the extensive parking, will cost Mr. Coughlin approximately $75,000.

The merry-go-round will arrive here in a few days and will be installed immediately; an elephant, several camels and smaller animals will be here February 1, and the shoot the chutes will be built as soon as the [illegible] in the lake on the ranch melts. Among the animals will be several sacred bulls, which Mr. Coughlin has imported from India.

"This is one of the best places I ever saw for the building of a Coney Island resort," said Mr. Harland, yesterday. "The ranch is large and has enough shade trees to make a beautiful park. The small lake is just the thing on which to build a shoot the chutes, and Cheyenne creek has plenty of power to run a big mill. The merry-go-round will be built on the knoll of the hill north of Mr. Coughlin's stables. A large electric power plant will be built to furnish lighting for the park and zoo."

Mr. Coughlin, after spending two weeks here looking over the ground with Mr. Harland, left last Saturday for Chicago, where he will spend a few weeks looking after his business interests. He will return to Colorado Springs about February 10 and will stay here until his amusement grounds are in full working order.

It is probable that Mr. Coughlin will engage the Midland band to play a number of afternoons and evenings each week at Cheyenne Springs Park. He may build a small play house at which a vaudeville performance will be given during the summer season. Mr. Harland says that the plans have not been completed yet, but that Alderman Coughlin told him that he intends to make Cheyenne Springs Park and Zoo the most popular pleasure resort in the west. "He has $75,000 to put into it," says Mr. Harland, "and from the way he is going ahead with the plans, he will be successful."

ATE FLESH OF A WHITE MAN

BECAME SEPARATED FROM MAIN BODY AND WAS RUTHLESSLY MURDERED BY HOSTILE NATIVES.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 4.—The report of the murder of Dr. Stewart, the chief medical officer of the Southern Nigerian government, which arrived here yesterday, has caused a sensation. The horrible story of a cannibal feast in Nigeria, of which Dr. Stewart of the Scottish [illegible] was the victim, was received with [illegible] at the Liverpool [illegible] of Tropical Medicine.

The doctor, accompanied by an escort, was on a journey to the interior, but was separated from the main body. With only two carriers he proceeded to the Cameroon river. He was riding a bicycle and being outstripped by the carriers, passed the main road and came into the village of a hostile tribe.

The carriers returning, found the Stewart's boy [illegible] of his body. Joining the main force, they gave information as to their discovery. The investigation, which followed, showed that the body had been horribly mutilated and there was evidence that it had been partially eaten.

It is stated that the village is only two days' march from the Cameroon river. It is known that the natives often indulge in cannibal feasts.

TARIFF TALK IN THE HOUSE

REPUBLICAN LEADER DISCOURSES ON PROPOSED REDUCTION OF DUTY ON SUGAR.

DEFER ACTION ON INSURANCE QUESTION WILL INVESTIGATE ABUSE OF FRANKING PRIVILEGES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The status of the Philippine [illegible] was advanced [illegible] by the Republican leader, Payne, for nearly four hours today. He presented the views of the majority of the ways and means committee on the question of the reduction of duties on sugar and tobacco to 25 per cent on the Dingley tariff rates—and admitting other products on the island of the United States free of duty. In [illegible] he gave and following Mr. Payne's speech, discussions occupied the time [illegible] to be a protracted debate, [illegible] and that the Republican leaders [illegible] the interests of this country [illegible] against the bill.

The president's annual message, which caused a seven days' discussion in the house preceding the holiday recess, was disposed of in [illegible] minutes at the beginning of the day's session. The particular question which was [illegible] of contention, which committee [illegible] the insurance question [illegible] finally settled by the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Hepburn providing for an expression of opinion by the judiciary committee as to the extent congress has power to regulate corporations other than railways.

Acting on a printed charge that members of the house were sending claims, affidavits and all manner of articles through the mails free of postage, the house adopted a resolution directing the postoffice committee to make an investigation as to whether members are abusing the franking privilege.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—Lawrence Van Winkle connected with the wholesale iron and steel firm of A. S. Cut Van Winkle & Co., and one of the wealthiest young men of San Francisco, committed suicide today in Golden Gate park. His body was found late this afternoon with a bullet wound in the head. A revolver was beside the body. Nothing is yet known of the cause of his act. He was about 35 years old. Van Winkle last week was sued for $25,000 damages by Charles N. CURRENCY QUESTION GREATER IN IMPORTANCE, SAYS JACOB SCHIFF, THAN RAILWAY REGULATION

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Unless there is currency reform, a panic beside which former panics will seem insignificant was predicted by Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, in a speech before the New York Chamber of Commerce today.

M. Schiff said he did not regard such a panic as imminent, but believed it will come unless something is done to remedy the lack of elasticity of the currency system. He declared that he did not favor the plan proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, it being his opinion that the secretary's plan would aid speculation rather than legitimate business. Mr. Schiff favored an currency based on commercial paper as more helpful to the general business interests of the country.

The speech created a sensation in financial circles and caused a sharp break in prices on the stock exchange. The meeting was attended by a large number of business men and financiers and a resolution on the subject offered by Mr. Schiff was unanimously adopted.

When the tenor of Mr. Schiff's remarks became known in Wall Street their effect was shown almost instantly in the stock market. There was a pressure to sell and support seemed entirely lacking, resulting in an uninterrupted decline up to the close, which was active and weak. The shares most vulnerable were those which have been the leaders in the recent bull speculation, especially metal stocks. Anaconda fell to 3½ points below last night, closing 3½ lower. Other losses were Amalgamated Copper 3⅝, St. Paul 1¾, Chicago & Northwestern 2, Great Northern Preferred 3, Northern Pacific 4, Peoples Gas 1¾, Reading 2.

These declines occurred in spite of the fact that call money, while still firm, was easier than for some days, loans having been made as low as 5 per cent. After the close of the market Mr. Schiff made the following statement:

"My remarks were dictated simply by

"Mark what I say, if this condition of affairs is not changed, and changed soon, we will get a panic in this country compared with which the three which have preceded it would be only child's play. There is no disaster seen upon us. Don't misunderstand me. But this is the time to prepare for it. If the president will only put part of the energy which he has so admirably put into the attempt to regulate rates, into an attempt to cure the condition of the circulating medium, the material interests of this country can be safeguarded for a very long time to come."—Jacob H. Schiff.

MURDERER MAY PAY PENALTY OF CRIME AT INDEPENDENCE

Cripple Creek Sheriff Says Alleged Assassin of Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho, Committed Most Dastardly Deed in Colorado's History, When Thirteen Miners Were Blown to Atoms.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 4.—Sheriff Bell declared today that Henry Orchard, alias Hogan, charged with the assassination of Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, was the leader of the Independence station outrage of June 6, 1904, when 13 non-union miners were killed and a score of others injured.

Sheriff Bell claims to have been in possession of information that Orchard was the guilty party shortly after the explosion. He made repeated efforts to apprehend Orchard without success. Bell tried to get Orchard when he was in Thermopolis, Wyoming, in August, 1904, after J. J. Neville had been killed, going on the train. It has been learned since that Orchard paid an acquaintance $50 to secrete him during the search.

If Orchard is not convicted of the murder of Governor Steunenberg he will be brought to this city to answer to a charge of killing thirteen men at the Independence station.

Sheriff Bell said today that Neville, who was Orchard's associate, left Independence at 4 p. m. on June 5, 1904, driving to Lake, where he camped for the night. After pulling the wire that dealt death to the miners on the station platform Orchard went over Bull Hill to the Black Sampler and then down Beaver Creek, where he joined Neville. They drove to Colorado Springs and thence to Greeley, where, upon the issuance of warrants having been issued for their arrest, they sold their team and buggy for $40 and separated. Neville went to Chesyenne and Orchard returned to Denver.

Orchard received $200 of his blood money before leaving Cripple Creek, $50 in Denver and $100 in Cheyenne. Neville admitted to Sheriff Bell that Orchard received two rolls of money containing $100 each at Cheyenne and that he, Neville, took care of one roll for Orchard on their subsequent journey to Cody, Wyo. At Meeteetse, near Cody, Orchard lost $400 at roulette. It is believed that Orchard got the rest of his roll at Cody where he played faro and the wheel. Trace of him was lost at Park City, Utah.

At this point in the search a woman entered the case. She wanted to join Orchard and while he was not unwilling to meet her he was afraid to do so, and because of his fear the officers were baffled. The woman was being watched. It is believed that she has been in the neighborhood of Goldfield and Tonopah until recently and that the Idaho authorities will be able to describe his career from the time he left Cripple Creek.

Orchard figured in the Coeur d'Alene strike of 1899 and spent a period in the bull pen where he probably developed hatred for Governor Steunenberg. Orchard came here in 1899 after the conclusion of the strike in Idaho and became a member of Free Coinage union No. 19, Western Federation of Miners, at Altman. He left the camp returning in 1903. From this time on he lived in a cabin near the Findley mine, working in the mines occasionally and often living by his wits, it is claimed. He gambled and was suspected of handling stolen goods. He was of strong physique, smooth shaven, wore good clothes, was easy of address and when travelling pretended to be a commercial salesman, a role which he filled acceptably.

Neville is said to have died in Tonopah six weeks ago.

DENVER, Jan. 4.—Sheriff Edward Bell of Teller county, Colorado, today telegraphed the sheriff at Caldwell, Idaho, requesting him to hold the prisoner identified as Harry Orchard on a warrant charging him with murder committed in Cripple Creek, Colorado, should the charge of assassinating former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, not be pressed against him. Orchard is accused of having blown up the Independence depot on June 6, 1904, killing 14 non-union miners and seriously injuring a number of others. It is said he left the Cripple Creek district immediately after the explosion and has since eluded the Colorado authorities though he has been traced through Utah, New Mexico, Old Mexico, British Columbia, Wyoming and Idaho.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 4.—The feature of the day in the Steunenberg assassination case at Caldwell was the news that the law firm of Robertson, Rossenbaup and Miller, of Spokane, would defend Harry Orchard, alias Thomas Hogan, accused of the murder. Last night they sent him word that one of the firm would be on hand Friday. The firm has long represented what is designated as the dynamite element of the Coeur d'Alenes.

The bill provides for the abolition of the present Interstate Commerce commission and the substitution therefor of a transportation commission consisting of three members in whom is vested all the powers of the present commission and upon whom is cast the duty of proceeding in the name of the United States in a special transportation court when they shall have reasonable grounds for belief that the law is being violated for the purpose of securing a correction of the particular rate of practice. The special court is to consist of seven members, three of the court are to be appointees and four are to be designated from the existing circuit courts. The bill provides for the publicity of accounts, methods of keeping the same and makes owners and operators and private cars subject to the provisions of the act.

RESCUED AFTER SIX DAYS AT SEA IN AN OPEN BOAT

PENSACOLA, Fla., Jan. 4.—Six days in an open boat with waves constantly dashing over them, and with only a few tins of canned beef and one gallon of water, was the experience of Captain Bodden and six members of the crew of the American schooner Nokomis.

The men reached here today, being brought from St. Andrews, where they were washed upon the beach in an almost exhausted condition, with limbs swollen and almost dead from exposure. They were found by a party from a small settlement nearby and given attention until they were able to be placed in a boat and brought to Pensacola, where the vessel is owned.

The Nokomis put out from Gulfport about two weeks ago for Cuba with a cargo of lumber. Shortly after getting to sea a leak was discovered and in the heavy gale that prevailed the water gained rapidly.

The men finally decided to abandon the ship and gathered food and nautical instruments. Just then a big wave swept over the vessel, turning it completely over and throwing everything into the sea. Almost by a miracle one of the lifeboats, a jug of water and a few cans of meat were saved. The men then set out for shore and for six days and nights were adrift.

MAGNATE MUST PAY FOR WRONG-DOING YEARS AGO

Bank-Wrecker Served Six Years in Prison and Now Has to Pay Over $5,000,000---The Way of the Transgressor Is Again Exemplified.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A verdict for $5,250,333 against Edward L. Harper, once vice president of the Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, was affirmed today by Judge Cox in the United States circuit court.

Eighteen years ago Mr. Harper was convicted of causing the failure of the Fidelity bank and served six years in prison.

The verdict which he was today ordered to pay grew out of this failure. The original amount sued for was $2,500,000 and today's verdict of over $5,000,000 represents this claim plus the interest which has accrued during the eighteen years which the suit has been pending in the courts.

Mr. Harper is at present vice president and general manager of the Union Iron and Steel company, with offices in this city.

SCREAMING WOMAN EJECTED FROM WHITE HOUSE OFFICES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—A distressing scene was enacted at the White House executive offices today in which a woman was carried screaming from the building because she refused to leave without resort to force.

About 1 o'clock a handsomely attired woman, apparently about fifty years of age, entered the executive offices and inquired for Secretary Loeb. Through a messenger she sent her card to the secretary. On the card was engraved the name Mrs. Miner Morris, and written beneath it in ink was the address, The New Willard. To Assistant Secretary Barnes she said that she wanted to see the president. She told Mr. Barnes that her husband had been discharged from the government service and she wanted to demand from the president his reinstatement, or at least to discuss the matter with him. Mr. Barnes explained to her that the president had nothing to do with such subjects and that she would better take up the matter with the head of the department from which her husband had been dismissed. Mrs. Morris declared, in a loud tone, that she had come to the White House to see the president and proposed to see him, even if she had to camp out there for a month.

As Mrs. Morris is a large woman, three officers had difficulty in handling her, but eventually they picked her up bodily and with the assistance of one of the White House servants carried her screaming to the police call box on the east side of the White House. She was forced to get into a patrol wagon and was taken to the house of detention. There she was placed under the care of the matron, who succeeded in calming her.

Thus far no charge has been filed against Mrs. Morris. She has been a guest of the New Willard for about three weeks, registering from the District of Columbia. She is not known at the White House and the name Miner Morris does not appear in the latest city directory.

Mrs. Morris was released from the house of detention shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon and returned to the New Willard hotel tonight. She refused to see any callers and sent word she was indisposed.

CURRENCY QUESTION IS GREATER THAN RAILWAY REGULATION

the conviction that something must be done to correct our currency system if we are not to run in time into great disaster.

"If the president could be made to see that this is a question of vastly more importance to the material interests of the country than that of railroad legislation to which he has devoted himself with such admirable energy, congress would soon set to work to remedy our circulation evil in a manner which would safeguard our prosperity."

"We have witnessed during the past 60 days conditions in the money market which are nothing less than a disgrace to any civilized country. There must be a cause for such conditions. It cannot be the condition of the country itself, for wherever you look there is prosperity. It cannot be that the speculation which prosperity always brings can be the sole reason for the conditions. Other countries have had wider speculation than the United States. In France, Germany and England speculation is rampant. The cause is the insufficient elasticity of our circulating medium."

STRIKING WORKMEN TIE UP BIG SMELTER

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 4.—Since Sunday night not a wheel has turned nor has a ton of ore been reduced at the British Columbia Copper company's smelter at Greenwood, or at the Dominion Copper company's smelter at Boundary Falls, the question being the adoption of eight-hour shifts instead of twelve-hour shifts. This resulted in a practical stoppage of operations at the mines of both companies in the Deadwood and Phoenix camps until adjustment is arranged, over 300 men being idle as a result. The companies stand together in the matter.

LA FOLLETTE CLAIMS SEAT

SENATE ADOPTS RESOLUTION FOR REGULATION OF PATRONAGE AND DISPOSES OF MINOR MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—After waiting for almost a year R. M. La Follette appeared in the senate when it reconvened today after the holiday recess, to take his seat as a senator from Wisconsin.

The oath of office was administered to him by Vice President Fairbanks. The ceremony was witnessed by a crowded gallery, which manifested much interest in the proceedings. This interest was greatly heightened by the fact that Mr. La Follette was escorted into the senate chamber and to the vice president's desk by Mr. Spooner, between whom and Mr. La Follette there had been in recent years a difference of opinion as to party and public policies, amounting to personal antagonism. Neither senator displayed any of such feeling today.

Mrs. La Follette was among the spectators of her husband's initiation into this new sphere of public duty.

The senate discussed at some length a proposition to reprint a magazine article by Mr. Newlands, and also a resolution for the regulation of senate patronage. Both were adopted.

A resolution calling for information concerning the status of affairs in Santo Domingo was presented by Mr. Tillman, who made an unsuccessful effort to secure immediate consideration of it. Mr. Gallinger had expected to open a debate on the merchant marine shipping bill today, but when the bill was laid before the senate he asked to be excused from talking until next Monday, when the bill will be formally taken up as unfinished business.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The senate committee on territories met today and began consideration of the joint statehood bill. This was the first meeting of the committee to consider the admission of states.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Foraker today introduced a bill providing that the citizens of Porto Rico shall be a citizen of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Teller, today, reintroduced in the senate a petition signed by Estes G. Rathbone praying a full investigation of his conviction on charges of fraudulent acts alleged to have been committed while serving as director general of posts in Cuba in 1898.

PRAISES ASTHMA CURE.

The Wife of a Prominent Judge Cured of Asthma in Less Than One Month.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., Jan. 4.—It certainly has done wonders for me and has permanently cured me of asthma, after physicians had failed even to give me relief. This is the way Mrs. Charles H. Paris of this city cites her experience with the Austrian ascatco treatment. She further states that she commenced the treatment with a trial bottle furnished to her free of cost by the Austrian dispensary, 32 West 25th street, New York city, and the relief was noticeable from even this ten days' treatment.

Before she had completed the month's treatment, which she received after taking the trial bottle, her asthma has completely left her and has not returned after a period of four months' time. Ascatco is the marvelous remedy which permanently cures all forms of asthma, catarrh and bronchitis.

HAZERS PREFER NOT TO TESTIFY

FEAR THEY WILL BE INCRIMINATED—NEAT CHARGE TO BE AGAINST MIDSHIPMAN A-ZONI.

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 4.—Today's proceedings before the court martial which is trying Midshipman Worth Foster of New Albany, Ind., for the alleged hazing of Midshipman Chester Roberts, were of interest, as not only were some new forms of hazing explained, but the number of witnesses who sought to be excused from answering questions on the ground that they would incriminate themselves indicates how thoroughly the practice of hazing has permeated the institution. The court ruled that a midshipman did not incriminate himself by stating that he was present during hazing if he did not actually take part in it himself, but even after this explanation several midshipmen asked to be excused from answering questions, saying they would incriminate themselves if they answered.

Lieut. Commander MacRuder, aide to Superintendent Sands and who has charge of the prosecution of the charges and specifications against the midshipmen who are tried before the court martial, said this afternoon that the only charge which had been prepared up to this time except those already tried was one against Midshipman Marzoni.

STEAMER PUEBLA TOWED INTO PORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The Pacific Steamship company's steamer Puebla, which runs from this city to Puget sound, was towed into port today by the steam schooner Shellals and the steamer Norwood. The tug Richmond stood by to render assistance if needed. The propeller shaft of the City of Puebla was broken during a severe storm off the mouth of the Columbia river, but by using her sails she succeeded in keeping her head to the sea until aid arrived. Including passengers, officers and crew, there were about 200 persons on board, and for several days uncertainty regarding their fate has caused great anxiety. Fortunately the weather moderated and the steamer reached this harbor practically intact. The claims for salvage, however, will probably be the largest ever claimed on this coast, approximating, it is estimated, $40,000.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN JAPAN ON STRIKE

PEKING, Jan. 4.—The Chinese students in Japan who number 8,000 have struck against the attempts of the government to subject them to official supervision. They are threatening to return to China in a body. If this threat should be carried out it would prove a disturbing element here as the sympathies of a majority of the students are anti-foreign and anti-dynastic.

A notable movement has recently begun here in the establishment of schools for the education of women under the direction of several princesses with Japanese ladies as volunteer teachers. All the schools are crowded with girls from leading families. Fourteen Mongolian princesses have arrived at Peking for the purpose of seeking instruction in the European languages.

TOOTHPICKS ARE NECESSARY

Though not at the dining table. Polite society naturally frowns at their use at the table, but they are really necessary, and their use in the proper place should not be discouraged. They aid in the preservation of the teeth by the ease with which they remove all the particles of food from around the teeth, which, being left there, would decay. Quill toothpicks are the best. Floss silk is also good for the same purpose. At least twice each year you should come to a good dentist and have the tartar and accumulation removed. This can only be done by a competent dentist. Most people believe you will find the most competent dentists at our office, Dr. Shaw, dental surgeon, Barnes building, 113 Pike's Peak avenue. Phone 914B. Hours, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8. FOG ENVELOPS HUDSON RIVER

AND MANY VESSELS GO ASTRAY. SEVERAL ACCIDENTS OCCURRED AND ONE MAN MAY DIE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Scores of tugs and steamers went astray in a dense fog which enveloped New York harbor, Hudson river and East river for over an hour today. One wreck, a collision in which one man was fatally injured, and several smaller accidents were reported. Fully half the ferry lines stopped running for about an hour. Thousands of persons living in New Jersey, Long Island and Staten Island were delayed from entering Manhattan to attend their business and many of the ferry boats which did venture to penetrate the white veil hiding Manhattan, arrived at their docks with stories of half breadth escapes.

On Romer shoal a tug boat was sunk and the life savers went to the rescue of her crew, who sought refuge on one of a string of scows which she had in tow.

The Erie railroad passenger ferry boat Passaic was run down in Hudson river by the ferry boat Binghamton, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. The Passaic's side was crushed in so badly that the walls of the men's cabin fell partially into this room. One bulkhead was also crushed in. Nicholas Carlo, a deck hand, was fatally injured and Thomas F. Piper, a passenger, was slightly hurt. Fortunately, the Passaic was carrying very few passengers. The Binghamton backed away in the fog, leaving the Passaic helpless and listing, with one paddle wheel crushed. For a time the ferry seemed to be in such danger of sinking that the lifeboats were lowered ready for use. Tugboats answered the ferry's distress signals and towed the damaged vessel ashore. Carlo was put on one of the tugs and sent ashore to a hospital.

LEADER OF MORALES FORCES WAS KILLED

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, Jan. 4.—Following the attack made January 1 on Puerto Plata, on the northern coast of Santo Domingo, by General Deguelin Rodriguez, commanding the troops of the fugitive president, General Morales, which resulted in the repulse of the Morales forces by the Caceres garrison after sharp fighting, the Caceres troops, commanded by General Cespedes, attacked the Morales troops yesterday in their position outside Puerto Plata. Stubborn fighting followed during which many men were killed or wounded on both sides, resulting in the defeat of the Morales forces, who were dispersed by the Caceres troops. Among the killed was General Demetrio Rodriguez, former governor of Monte Cristi, who, as reported in Monte Cristi, had announced that if his attack on Puerto Plata was successful he would proclaim himself a candidate for the presidency of Santo Domingo.

The streets of Puerto Plata are almost deserted, the stores are closed and business is at a standstill.

The Dominican exiles who have been authorized by the Morales party to return to Santo Domingo, are landing at Monte Cristi, not far from Puerto Plata.

ENGLISH LEARNING TO SHOOT.

Great plans are being laid in England to make the young men of that island good rifle shots. Many shooting clubs are being organized. In this connection the mayor of Westminster has presented to the Westminster employes one of the best equipped miniature rifle ranges in London. The range is in the vaults under St. Martin's church.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevalent in this country more fatal than all other diseases combined. It does not attack the vital organs, such as the heart, or the lungs, but it attacks the vital organs, such as the bladder, or the kidneys, and breaks down and wastes the tissues of the body.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys, and a cure is obtained only by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you feel badly you can place no better dose than taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, and many times it comes that a pleasant necessity exists to go often through the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is sold by all druggists in fifty cent and one dollar size bottles. You may receive a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

AMUSEMENTS

THE COLORADO OPERA "PAUL JONES"

At the Opera house on next Tuesday evening Rose Cecilia Shay and an excellent company of singers will present "Paul Jones." The success of the comic opera "Paul Jones" this season has proven that real comic opera still has the power to please and that the assertion made so emphatically of late among a certain class of theatrical managers that it is only the crude in musical comedy which appeals to the public in all managerial nonsense, foisted on the public with a view of making their wares seem the more palatable. And "Paul Jones" is a real comic opera, such as is almost unknown today, without a lot of blatant music, turgid libretto and underhanded advertising of sausages and pickles, aid with it comes the proof that the theater going public has not deteriorated. "Paul Jones" is a completely satisfying piece and is not a mere jumble of legs, gaudy stage settings, reminiscent scenes and the promotion of canning factories. It does not cause a single jar against the finer sensibilities that revolt against the stage being turned into a mere vacant lot billboard.

A chorus, and stage settings and scenery, all the very finest procurable are all a part of the great comic opera, but they do not predominate the whole show and are merely secondary considerations to the elegant music and splendid lines, of one of the best if not the best comic opera ever offered to the American public.

FAREWELL OF THE FOUNTAIN COMPANY.

"Dora Thorne" was again presented to an overflowing house by the Marie Fountain Co. last night, and they gave the same meritorious performance as on the previous nights.

Tonight the company appears in the western comedy drama, "Joe Blossom," reserved especially as the play which is best suited to be given as the farewell performances of this company, because of its picturesque surroundings, captivating climaxes and highly interesting plot.

George Donahue, who will be remembered as the popular little manager of the Eastern Fountain Co., and who has been spending the holidays with the company here, has been induced by his friends to appear in the cast of "Joe Blossom," and he will be seen in the role of Jack Furbish, a part quite suited to his ability.

The daily matinees will continue and the company closes their engagement Saturday night, much to the regret of their many admirers.

A MUSICAL TREAT JANUARY 8.

The cantata entitled, "The First Christmas," by C. Whitney Coombs, given in the First Methodist church, Thursday evening, December 21, by the choir and chorus of 40 of the best singers in the city was a decided success as a musical feature.

The chorus showed, through its preciseness of attack, its excellent phrasing and shading to a remarkable degree the splendid work of Mr. Wilhelm Schmidt as director.

Numerous requests for a repetition of this most excellent musical treat together with the many words of praise from those who were present, has resulted in a decision on the part of the committee in charge to reproduce the cantata at 8:15 p. m., on January 8, in the First M. E. church. Admission 25 cents. Those who wish to enjoy one of the best musical treats of the entire season will certainly arrange to be present.

ANITA RIO.

Of the soloists Miss Rio is easily the first. With a voice of rare brilliancy, clear, sympathetic and true, and such perfect familiarity with the score that she sings without notes, Miss Rio more than equaled the excellent impression which she made here before and her audience went into raptures of applause. It is doubtful if her equal as an interpreter of the "Messiah" can be found.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Anita Rio achieved a personal triumph, and succeeded in carrying the audience off its feet. This charming songstress is certainly an artist of the first rank, and she possesses a voice of remarkable quality, sweet, clear and true to a shade. So profound was the impression created by her singing, that a deep silence prevailed for half a minute after she had finished, and then was witnessed the most enthusiastic demonstration of applause during the entire Festival.—The Evening News, Saginaw, Mich.

Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, the famous exponent and demonstrator of psychic research and psychic phenomena, who is booked for a lecture at Majestic hall, January 8, holds some very interesting views, according to an interview recently published in a Denver paper. The celebrated Englishman declares that the human race is about to enter upon the realization of a new sense, which he designates as "the apprehension of the cosmic consciousness." "People are becoming conscious of the reality of the soul, and of the practical application of the soul faculties," declared Dr. McIvor-Tyndall. Whereas a comparatively few years ago one met doubt and skepticism in explaining and demonstrating the reality of the subconscious faculties, one now meets intelligent comprehension in regard to these phenomena, and a desire to learn how to apply this soul knowledge to the practical everyday affairs of life. In other words the world—at least the intelligent half of it—is seeking to bring into practical realization, our inherent right to happiness and prosperity and phsical well-being. Knowing how to live is a science that may be learned no less exactly, than can the science of mathematics." Dr. McIvor-Tyndall's coming lecture here is exciting much interest and the noted speaker and thought-reader is certain of a splendid audience.

The Empire theater this week has the best vaudeville show ever in the city. The Diamond Comedy Four are comedians of rare ability and sure to please everybody, either by their funny sayings and doings, or by their fine quartet singing, which is the best ever in Colorado Springs. Amy Granville, the great prima donna and premier toe dancer, always "brings down the house" with her wonderful singing and toe dancing. In her last dance she wears a dress covered with 200 colored electric globes. The Wheeling Wheelocks do some tricks others do on bicycles, and some, others do not do, and finish with both riding on a unicycle. The Dancing Downs is known as America's greatest clog dancer, and he certainly dances up to his reputation. The moving pictures are magnificent, coming direct from the Orpheum circuit, the last series being highly colored. Special attention is called to the overture, "An English Hunting Scene," which is unique and full of life. Souvenir matinee today 10 cents.

ELKS DANCE—The dance given at the Elks club-house last night was one of the most successful of the season, about 50 couples attending. The Elks band orchestra furnished the music and lunch and refreshments were served during the intermission at 11 o'clock.

THE FRANCO-GERMAN QUARREL.

THE FRANCO-GERMAN war scare, which has been languishing for about six months, has again bobbed up to haunt European statesmen and make things lively for the correspondents. It seems to be just as necessary for the world to have a Franco-German war scare at least once a year, as for trouble to be "impending" in the Balkans. But if the actual truth were known, it is probable that France and Germany are quite as unlikely to resort to war as the Powers are to partition Turkey.

In yesterday's Associated Press dispatches from Washington, the cause of the sudden flurry was analyzed, and it appeared to be due principally to a change in the French war ministry. Early in November, M. Berteaux, the former minister of war, resigned, and was succeeded by M. Etienne. Berteaux was a socialist, and therefore strongly opposed to war, and in accordance with his political beliefs his administration was characterized by decided inactivity in military affairs. Etienne, on the contrary, is a firm believer in the importance of military preparedness. After he assumed office he immediately began strengthening his country's defenses, more to be on the safe side than in consideration of any possible early conflict with Germany. The vigilant Kaiser, not to be outwitted, thereupon renewed his military preparations, and each country let the world know about it in the hope that the knowledge would intimidate the other.

It will be time to talk about war after the Morocco conference has failed to accomplish the purpose for which it was called. This conference, which is to settle the disputed questions between France and Germany in regard to the administration of Morocco, has not yet been held, and so far as the public has been permitted to learn, there is no reason to suppose that its deliberations will be futile. But if the delegates fail to solve the problem, it is quite certain that the world will be treated to a real war scare involving a strong probability of ultimate conflict.

Late dispatches from London declare that the British government takes a very pacific view of the situation, but this declaration is of small importance because, as all know, that concerns Morocco. Great Britain is the ally of France and is likely to be bound by any action taken by the French ministry. This further complicates matters, for if France and Germany should actually go to war, it is difficult to see how England could stand aloof. The humiliation of Germany is a dream almost as dear to the British mind as the humiliation of Russia, and now that the latter object has been accomplished through the agency of Japan, nothing remains to make British hegemony in Europe complete except the effective checking of German ambitions. However, all this is mere speculation. Just now the probability of war is very remote and there need be no occasion for alarm unless the coming conference fails to reach a settlement.

TROUBLE BREWING IN CHINA.

ONE OF the results of the Russo-Japanese War most likely to create trouble for America and Europe is the growth of the "Asia for the Asiatics" idea. Since the diminutive Japanese overthrew the once-dreaded Russian all of the brown and yellow peoples of the Far East have got the idea into their heads that they can and perhaps some day will drive the white man out of Asia. It is said that in India the progress of the war was followed by the natives with the most intense interest and every fresh Japanese triumph was regarded as added evidence of the superiority of the Oriental over his natural enemy from the West. In China this idea has gained such headway that it is not unlikely eventually to cause trouble for Americans and Europeans.

To be prepared for such a contingency seems to be the only explanation that can reasonably be advanced for the action of our Government in sending additional troops to the Philippines. It is customary to send new regiments to the islands occasionally to replace others which are ordered home, leaving the number of men there unchanged, but this has not been done in the present instance. No troops are to be withdrawn, but two regiments of infantry and two batteries of field artillery will be dispatched on February 1 to reinforce the garrisons already in the islands. When these troops arrive in Manila the Government will have a larger force there than at any time since the suppression of the insurrection. There is no occasion whatever to employ this large detachment in the Philippines, but the uncertainty of affairs in China arising from the boycott situation apparently explains the action of the War Department. If another uprising should occur similar to the Boxer trouble several years ago, a strong American military force could be landed on the Asiatic mainland on short notice, and they would be backed up by the naval squadron in Chinese waters, which is also being strengthened.

There is a growing feeling in this country that our Government has been altogether too considerate of Chinese sensibilities in dealing with the boycott question. A few days ago a dispatch from Hongkong stated that the viceroy there has telegraphed to the Chinese ministry at Washington approving the conditions agreed upon by the American merchants, the Chinese guilds, and the boycott committee of Canton for the raising of the boycott against American goods. The viceroy declared that if the United States accepts these conditions he will use his utmost endeavors to stop the boycott and punish the agitators. One of the conditions referred to is that coolie labor shall be admitted into both Hawaii and the Philippines. There is not the slightest probability that Congress would ever agree to any such proposal, and there is still less chance of it being approved by the American people. The Chinese market is highly valuable, but if the Celestials think they can coerce our Government into admitting their coolies into Hawaii and the Philippines by threats of withdrawing their trade they are decidedly in error. The success of the boycott has encouraged the spread of anti-foreign feeling in China in spite of the seemingly sincere efforts of the Peking authorities to prevent it. If the Chinese do not want to buy our goods there is no way of compelling them to do so, but they certainly can not be unwarranted political advantages by resorting to a boycott. The action of the American Government in sending additional troops to the Philippines is a reminder to them that neither will they be allowed to vent their wrath in deeds of violence without paying a severe penalty.

INSURANCE PROBLEMS.

IN HIS message to the New York assembly Governor Higgins said: "If this legislature does not produce an insurance law which shall be practicable, radical but sane, new spirit which shall be courageous but not hysterical, it will fail in most the expectations of those who have confidence in the ability of popular government to solve its own problems as they arise." The Governor adds that "future effective action by Congress or the Federal Government is not probable, but the possibility of such action should not retard for an instant the work of the state." This being true, and the fact that most of the great insurance companies are New York corporations, makes the need of adequate legislation in that state all the more imperative.

The prime object of all future insurance legislation must be to protect policy holders from a repetition of the evils recently brought to light, but this problem is not likely to be satisfactorily solved, either in New York or other states, unless better provision is made to secure supervision which really supervises. The recent testimony of Superintendent Hendricks shows how lamentably lacking the present system is, and incidentally how deficient Mr. Hendricks has been in the qualities which go to make up a good insurance supervisor. As Mr. Hughes expressed it, Hendricks has been "living below his opportunities," for he has limited himself to finding out whether the companies examined were solvent or insolvent. His powers were not managerial, he could not have reduced salaries which were excessively high, or compelled officials to explain the "legal" expense accounts, or other items which might shelter graft. It was not within his province to regulate these things directly, but he could at least have made public his belief that certain reforms should be instituted and relied on the power of public opinion to effect them.

But there ought to be an insurance law in every state enabling the insurance commissioner to actually find out the facts which must be generally known if policy holders are to be protected. Hendricks "examined" the Equitable, the New York Life, the Mutual Life and other of the big concerns which have since been shown to be honeycombed with graft, and reported them solvent—and that was all he did report. Of course they were solvent; nobody has ever questioned that fact. But it is not sufficient that an insurance company be merely solvent; it must also be administered with absolute honesty and economy, and there must be no suspicion of graft in its management. It might be objected that the supervision which could accurately determine these things would place an enormous burden of labor and expense on the state. Perhaps this is true, but such an alternative is far better than allowing things to go on in the old slipshod way, leaving the policy holders absolutely at the mercy of officials who may or may not be honest.

It is charged by a Washington paper that certain Congressmen abuse the franking privilege by sending cows and other farm animals through the mails free. Why doesn't the Government be real generous in this matter and allow the statesmen to mail their houses and lots to Washington for use while Congress is in session, and then move them back home during the interim?

"Judge" Hamilton emphatically declares that not a cent of the $800,000 lobby fund which he handled for the New York Life was used for corruption. Of course nobody doubts Hamilton's word, but there are people who would like to have a look at his account books just to gratify curiosity.

It took three policemen and a servant to eject an obstreperous woman from the White House yesterday. There is a certain athletic gentleman in the White House who probably could have performed the job unaided if official dignity had not prevented.

Representative Brownlow of Tennessee, who introduced 847 bills during the three weeks between the convening of Congress and its adjournment for the holidays, seems to think that statesmanship is a matter of quantity rather than quality.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons says that her husband, the ex-pug, loves her so devotedly that she is afraid he will kill her the next time they meet. Mr. Fitzsimmons evidently has a peculiar way of manifesting his tender sentiments.

"A billion dollars is a comparatively small sum of money nowadays," says the Washington Star. Yes, a small sum for an insurance grafter to steal, but a very big one when it comes to paying it back.

General Rodriguez, commanding the revolutionary army in Santo Domingo has been killed. This reduces the strength of the revolutionary forces one-half. Morales is still left.

The Czar is doubtless fervently praying that France and Germany may go to war. Anything to put somebody else in the center of the world's stage.

The Agricultural Department is experimenting on a seedless persimmon. What will be the good of the thing after it is perfected?

BALLOT REFORM.

There is a wave of ballot reform agitation spreading over the land. In Pennsylvania it has been an issue for years, but the recent election has not only served to emphasize the need for it and the popular interest in it, but has made it imperative that the legislature shall take early action. Unfortunately, the special session which Governor Pennypacker has called cannot consider the subject unless he issues a supplemental call, but at the regular session it is quite likely that a bill abolishing "party squares," whereby a vote for an entire party's candidates can be cast by a single cross (X) mark, will be passed. In New York a number of committees are at work to secure ballot reform, under the leadership of the City club, which for years has given close attention to the subject. In Pennsylvania similar efforts are on foot under the active guidance of the election reforms committee, which had also had charge of the personal registration campaign. The experiment in independent voting on November 7 has greatly increased the demand for a simpler and more common-sense ballot, and it is expected that the coming conference of municipal independent parties and committees to be held in Chicago will give considerable if not exclusive attention to the demand that permanent municipal independence can best be achieved through requiring each voter to make a cross for each candidate to be voted for. Not to speak of Australia (where the system originated), Canada, Great Britain and many other foreign countries, the laws of fourteen states of the Union using official ballots provide that all candidates shall be voted for by marking their names individually, or, as in two instances, by erasing the names of the opposing candidates. These states are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Idaho, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Tennessee and Virginia. The present movement for ballot reform has made greatest headway in New York, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. In the latter state the legislature of 1903 required grouping the candidates for each office, thus eliminating the party column, but it provided for a set of party squares on the left hand side of the ballot, so that the objectionable feature of party voting was retained. The election reforms committee instituted a test case to determine the constitutionality of that particular provision, but the supreme court affirmed the legality of the statute. Pennsylvania can quite easily secure ballot reform of an approved type by repealing the party square provision. In Wisconsin it is proposed to enact at the present special session a strictly Australian ballot system. The ticket provided for will, it is estimated, in presidential elections, be a yard long and about five inches wide. The offices will be grouped and arranged in the following order: Presidential, congressional, state, county and local.—The Outlook.

COMING TO THE FORE.

Carbondale is taking on metropolitan airs and a mass meeting of citizens last week unanimously passed a resolution recommending that the town council take steps to issue bonds in a sum not exceeding twenty thousand dollars for the purpose of putting in a gravity system. Carbondale is a very prosperous town and has a bright future.—Glenwood Post.

BOOSTERS ORGANIZE.

Rifle now has a real chamber of commerce which will take up in earnest many questions of public interest to the town. The movement is being well supported by the merchants of the town, and this isn't the only evidence of life which Rifle business men exhibit. They advertise their wares and by so doing they advertise their town.—Glenwood Post.

PUBLIC PAYS FREIGHT.

Railways are against government regulation of their freight business, packers want no interference with their beef combine, and life insurance companies are averse to public inspection of their affairs. Insurance men have been driven from office by exposure of their scandals, officials of the beef combine have been forced to flee to Canada in an attempt to cover their illegal acts, and railway men are putting forth every effort to defeat a bill giving a fair and equitable freight rate to all shippers in all sections of the country. It is but natural that these interests should fight against any interference with their methods of doing business, but it is also natural that the public should fight for its own rights in such matters for they are the ones who finally pay.—Fort Collins Express.

MYSTERIOUS ARRIVAL IN EMPORIA.

She boarded the train at Emporia, but that does not signify. She had the Emporia nose, which means a whole lot; but then she had the Eureka coil to her hair, the Council Grove foot, and the Strong City walk, and it was hard to determine. But when her mother came tagging in after her, with two suit cases, we knew Emporia was her habitat. She was going to Ed Howe's Corn carnival at Atchison. She wore a tan covert traveling suit with gloves, shoes, and hat to match. The car voted her the real thing. An hour after her arrival in Atchison she "emerged" from the hotel in a stunning suit of voile. At luncheon—they call it dinner in Atchison—she was in white linen, laundered to beat the band. At 2 o'clock she "floated" from the main corridor of the hotel in a crepe de chine, and the seven buttoned-up-to-the-chin army officers, who were lined up on the sidewalk, pulled down their seven khaki coats, came to "attention" and stared the army stare. At supper it was white silk, cut bias, but at the reception it was a see-more shirt waist, see-through stockings, and see-everything mosquito net skirt, on trains, while the seven army officers (?) they went down to the bar to shake dice for the drinks. They are shaking yet. Who was she? Well, that is what we all want to know.—Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

Folk as Governor

What He Has Actually Done for Missouri — Enforced the Anti-Pass Law, Abolished the Legislative Lobby, Shut Up the Delmar Race Tracks Stopped Sunday Saloons in St. Louis and Other Cities, and Made the Whole State More Direct Some of His Peculiar Wise Ways.—William Allen White in McClure's [illegible]

AS soon as he was inaugurated Folk summoned the political attorneys of the railroads, whose business it was to bribe legislators, and told them that he proposed to enforce the anti-pass law, which had been a dead letter on the Missouri statutes for nearly forty years. This law prohibits railroads from giving passes to legislators or state officers or state employes. By violating this law the political attorneys of the railroads have been able to prevent any railroad legislation fair to the shippers, and, more than that, have been able to direct other legislation so closely that his three predecessors and other governors of Missouri have sent for these same attorneys and have begged them to allow a decent law to pass, so that his failure might not embarrass the party. This situation is common in American states. But Folk, having a reputation as a producer of livestock, spoke with more point and emphasis when he said that if passes were sent to the legislators he would not bother the legislators, but would see that indictments were brought against the offending attorneys of the railroads. Also he told them to keep away from the capitol during legislative session. He announced that if Bill Phelps, one of the most notorious of the railroad lobbyists, hung around Jefferson City during the session of the legislature something important would happen. And when Mr. Phelps had a few hours' private business in Jefferson City he reported to the governor upon arrival and told him when he would leave, and explained what he would be doing while he stayed. It was Bill Phelps who said of Senator Stone of Missouri: "Stone sucks eggs as I do, but he hides the shells." Phelps is not ashamed of his calling, and only lays when he deems it necessary. He intimates that Stone adds hypocrisy to his other shortcomings.

While Folk was conferring with the railroad representatives, he told them that if they would stay away from the capital and call off Phelps they might have his help to defeat any unfair measure proposed in the legislature, and he was as good as his word. Half a dozen unfair railroad bills were passed, and were promptly vetoed by the governor. But while the unfair bills were killed by the governor, he gave his support to the needed railroad legislation, and for the first time since 1873 a law was passed by the Missouri legislature regulating freight rates in the state. A law was passed prohibiting railroad employers from working their employes more than sixteen hours at a time on freight runs; another law was enacted requiring corporations to give employes quitting their service a letter stating the reason the employes were discharged, thus eliminating the black list; a fair demurrage charge law was put on the books, and railroads were compelled to stop at stations when ordered to do so by the railroad commissioners. A damage act became a law, authorizing suit for damages resulting from the death of an unmarried adult, and increasing the amount which may be recovered from $5,000 to $10,000. Heretofore there had been no right of action for the negligent death of an adult unmarried person. The railroads have always succeeded in killing off legislation of this kind; the long-hoped-for law permitting plaintiffs to sue the original and connecting carriers who injure shippers by delays or otherwise, was passed; as also was the law authorizing the railroad commissioners to compel the establishment of freight depots at junction points, when the commissioners decide that it is just. Railroads were legally defined to include street railways, and private car companies were made subject to taxation. The work of men in smelters and reduction works was limited to eight hours. A compulsory educational law was passed. At different times for many years, state platforms of both parties had promised these laws and the people desired them, but the reign of the railroad attorneys in Jefferson City had prevented such legislation. Government by corporation was overthrown by Governor Folk and government by the people re-established, simply through the enforcement of existing laws. The anti-pass law had been in the hands of every governor of Missouri for a generation, but as nearly all of those governors had been elected by railroad influence, they were afraid to use the club in their hand and be loyal to the people who paid the taxes.

Among other laws passed by the Missouri legislature which had the active opposition of the corporations at long range, was the law prohibiting race-track gambling and making it a felony. The St. Louis race track, known as the Delmar track, was one of the most active gambling places in the country, and the telegraph companies sent the reports of the Delmar races all over the land, turning a pretty penny thereby. The track was outside the corporation of St. Louis, in St. Louis county, where the governor seemed to have no power to enforce the law. The Delmar people kept on racing and gambling. Local sentiment in St. Louis county was with them, and naturally the local officers were in sympathy with the gamblers, and they prepared to invite all Missouri to laugh at its overzealous governor. Folk allowed their violations of the law to become so flagrant that the whole state understood the situation. He made it clear to the people that it was their law and not his which was broken, and thus, having aroused the state, he had public sentiment behind him, and he went after the gamblers. He planned his fight as a chess player lays out his game. He was told he could do nothing. Lawyers very generally agreed that the governor had no power, but Folk determined for himself that it was not only his right but his duty to stop organized crime anywhere in the state. If there should be a question as to his right to use the police outside of the city which hired them, he held that those engaged in the commission of felonies could not legally complain. No rights of theirs would be violated by police interference.

The gamblers expected him to call on the state militia, and were prepared to impeach the governor for sending the militia where the local officers had not asked for it. But one day a squad of St. Louis policemen appeared at the gates of the Delmar track and asked for admission, and being refused, departed. That was all. The next day they appeared, asked for admission, and being refused, walked in. They made no arrests, but stood around, and left when the races were over. The next day the same squad of policemen appeared at the gates, marched in, and at the proper time arrested the bookmakers. Then Folk's intimate knowledge of human nature came into play. Bookmakers are proud men, and are prone to glory in their impudence and their superiority to the law. So the Delmar gentry were loaded into an open patrol wagon, and, instead of being driven quickly and in a surreptitious manner to their destination, were driven at a dead walk six miles through the heart of the city to the police station, surrounded by a howling, jeering crowd of scornful citizens. When the crowd grew tired and threatened to dissolve, the drivers of the patrol wagon, following instructions, slowed up or stopped to let the crowd regather and jeer the lawbreakers. The next day, when it was rumored that there would be a big raid and that the track frequenters would be haled into court, the gates of Delmar track were closed, and have been ever since. A notice was posted on the Delmar gate that, owing to the predatory action of the police, the races would discontinue. The owners of the Delmar track represented great wealth and much political power in Missouri. They complained bitterly that the law did not permit the governor to use the police to stop flagrant violations of the law, but never either in word or deed they quit. The horses and gamblers and bookmakers have fled, and gambling upon the results of the St. Louis races has ceased all over the United States. More than that, as one of the indirect results of this lesson the Western Union directors have decided to take their wires out of all race-track stations, and to give only such gambling news as is brought to them. The company will not be the partners of thieves. The gamblers went before the state supreme court asking that body to dissolve the temporary injunction secured by the chief of police of St. Louis to prevent the sheriff of St. Louis county from arresting the St. Louis policemen who appeared at the race track to enforce the law.

As soon as the legislature adjourned and left his hands free Governor Folk set about to enforce the Sunday closing law, which has been in the Missouri statutes forty years unamended. He has control of the police boards in three first-class cities in Missouri—Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis—and also the control of the excise commissioners there, who have absolute power to revoke a saloon man's license at will. The supreme court had decided that the Sunday closing law was inoperative against every business except the saloon, and the saloon men could not compel other stores and shops to close because the saloons were shut up. That weapon was denied them. And when the order came to close at midnight Saturday they closed. The first Sunday a throng of drunken men and women crowded the St. Louis bridge coming and going to Illinois, where liquor could be bought. The second Sunday the saloons closed. Then, after the custom in such cases, a few of them opened their back doors. Their licenses were promptly revoked by the excise commissioner. The throng on the St. Louis bridge was not so large that Sunday. The third Sunday—which is the Sunday when Sunday closing spasms generally cease—a few more back doors opened, and Monday morning the keepers of those places lost their licenses. There were a few convictions also in court of violations of the law. The crowd on the bridge was gone. The people were getting used to the law. And from that time on St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph saloons have been closed on Sunday, and the excise law against larceny or against murder. And the German-American population of St. Louis, which is supposed to be particularly obstinate in its demand for beer, law or no law, is larger in St. Louis than in any American city of its size. The German-Americans are there obeying and upholding the law. The story that they are law-breakers is a saloon-keeper's scare-crow to frighten weak-kneed politicians. Outside of St. Louis, in St. Louis county, where the amusement parks are located, the governor's display of policemen at the Delmar race track put the fear of the law into the saloon keepers and restaurant men so completely that the law is observed there strictly. The hotel bars and all drinking places are closed on Sunday in the first-class cities of Missouri for the first time in the history of the state. And today Missouri is probably the only state in the Union without a dead-letter law on its statute books.

And this is how it has paid. Since the election of Folk as circuit attorney of St. Louis the value of land in the state has increased twenty per cent. The annual immigration to the state has increased twenty-five per cent. The railroads announce that after a summer of Sunday closing the Sunday excursions into the three first-class cities of the state have increased nearly ten per cent, showing that it pays to cater to the sober and industrious rather than to the lawless. The Sunday business of the local street cars has increased remarkably, while the number of arrests in the three cities, where statistics are available, has decreased twenty per cent and the Sunday arrests have diminished forty per cent. More than this, the trade of the grocers and small merchants has increased so materially that they are making a sentiment for Sunday closing strong enough to maintain it when Folk leaves the governor's office at the end of his term in 1908. Similarly the commercial clubs and business men's clubs in the Missouri cities have generally indorsed the enforcement of the anti-gambling law on the ground that clerks and employes are no longer tempted to take risks and gamble. A whole some sentiment for the enforcement of law, as the sensible business thing, is growing up all over Missouri. It has its influence in the religious morality of the governor, in his attitude toward his official duty, and it is appealing among citizens not as a moral principle, but as a business conviction. It is making itself felt practically in politics, and the Republican state officials, who in any other state and under any other conditions might feel that party policy required them to hinder rather than help a Democratic governor, are doing all they can to help him. Attorney General Hadley, a young Republican of the new school of politics, has been standing shoulder to shoulder with Folk in every important fight, and he deserves the highest praise for the way he has risen above partisan bias and has become a faithful servant of all the people. But for Hadley's sense and loyalty Folk might have been badly crippled.

THE LOBBYIST'S ACCOUNTING.

The accounting which Andrew Hamilton, insurance company lobbyist, has made to the Armstrong commission through John C. Mitchell is such a farce that it is a wonder it was ever made.

According to earlier evidence before the commission Hamilton had received $55,000 since 1899. He furnishes now a memorandum of expenditure since that year, in which the total is only $120,550. Out of this amount his personal expenses had been $160,650, his expenses $108,100, while the balance, $451,200, charged to retainers and fees for members of the legislature and newspaper attaches.

It is to be noted that Mr. Hamilton prepared these figures, not from regular account books, but from alleged memoranda which he refuses to produce.

The last sum of $451,200 is the money that was expended directly for influencing legislation. With regard to the items that make up this total Hamilton says he never paid his representatives by check, for that would have disclosed the fact that the person receiving the check was under retainer by me, which would have "hampered" the work. He has no memoranda whatever of these expenditures.

And yet he asks the world to believe that not a penny ever went out "improperly for an improper purpose or in a way that transgressed either the statutory law or the moral law."

It is too absurd. Had Hamilton's convenient ill health not enabled him to keep out of the way of the searching fire of Attorney Hughes' questions, he would have fared sadly before the examination was ended.

A different kind of accounting for Hamilton's operations will be possible when the special grand jury meets, which, it is unofficially announced, District Attorney Jerome will call in February.—Chicago Record-Herald.

VANDERBILT EARNED 20 CENTS.

Two elderly country women were sightseeing in New York and found themselves on Fifth avenue. The old ladies had heard of the public automobiles that take visitors on sightseeing trips through the park, so they accosted a young man in an automobile seat about to climb into a large motor car standing at the entrance. They expressed their desire to make the trip through the park and proceeded to climb into the machine. The young man looked somewhat surprised but politely helped his passengers into the car, got in himself and took them for a spin. When they asked what was the fare, he replied gravely: "Ten cents each," which they paid. Just then an acquaintance of theirs came up and was informed as to their auto ride. "And do you know who the young man was?" asked he. The old ladies did not know. "Well, it was young Mr. Vanderbilt," she said, with a chuckle. "Is that so? Well, he's a very nice young man," said one of the strangers.

KAISER'S IMPRESSIVE SPEECH.

Recently the German emperor swore in the recruits of the Potsdam garrison in a manner to inspire the soldiers with the spirit which swayed Cromwell's Ironsides. According to the Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, he said: "You see before you an altar, on it behold the cross, the symbol of all Christians. As such you have taken the oath of allegiance to the colors, and I hope and require that you will ever be mindful of this pledge. As I stand here a memorable episode rises before my eyes. When the Kaiser Leopold, of Austria, handed over the supreme command of his army to the famous Prince Eugene and gave him the marshal's baton the prince seized the crucifix and, holding it aloft, cried: 'This shall be our generalissimo!' I require and expect similar sentiments from you. I desire pious and gallant soldiers in my army, not mockers."

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on" said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

OTTO FEHRINGER LIQUOR CASE IS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Police Magistrate Takes Exception to Chief Adams Releasing Prisoner on Whose Evidence Fehringer Was Arrested---Mayor Hall Explains.

Otto Fehringer was tried in the police court yesterday before Judge A. P. Toombs upon a charge of selling liquor without a license to Frank Wilson on Friday, December 29, and after hearing the testimony the court took the case under advisement until today.

Only one witness was examined for the city, Frank Wilson testifying that on the day in question he entered the Fehringer store at 26 South Tejon street and asked for $1 worth of whisky and was served by the defendant personally.

Three witnesses were called for the stand for the defendant. Otto Fehringer and Brent Jeffries, of the local store, and Mr. Niceley, of the Colorado City store. Fehringer denied having made the sale of liquor to Wilson and asserted that he was not in the store at the time Wilson claimed to have bought the whisky. Jeffries testified that Fehringer was at Colorado City, as is his custom, on Friday last. Witness also testified that Wilson did not make the purchase from him and did not come into the store while the witness was there. Niceley, of the Colorado City store, testified that Fehringer was in Colorado City on Friday.

During the cross-examination of Wilson by counsel for the defense it was brought out that he was fined $10 and costs in the police court on Saturday for being intoxicated and had been released on last Monday. Judge Toombs inquired by what authority Chief Adams released the prisoner after he had been fined by the court, and the chief replied that he had suspended the sentence. Judge Toombs declared that the chief of police had no right to suspend a sentence imposed by the court except upon an order from the mayor.

Mayor Hall was questioned about the matter last evening and said: "Wilson was fined $10 and costs in the police court last Saturday for drunkenness, the entire bill amounting to $13.05. He was taken to jail to serve out the fine at the rate of $2 per day and remained in jail Saturday, Sunday and a good portion of Monday. On that date one of the ladies from the Deaconess hospital, where Wilson is employed, called at the police station and told Chief Adams that they would pay the balance of the fine, $7.05, in the event that the mayor declined to remit the penalty, as the man was greatly needed at the hospital. Chief Adams refused to accept the money from the hospital, as it is a charitable institution, but he did release the man pending instructions from me. I intend to remit the remainder of the penalty. The release of Wilson had nothing to do in any way with the case against Fehringer, and was not contingent upon his making a complaint and testifying in that case."

PYTHIAN OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED BY GRAND CHANCELLOR

Syracuse lodge, No. 111, installed officers last night, concluding the evening with a big banquet, which was in charge of "Bill" Nye.

Grand Chancellor O. B. Bennett installed in person, made a speech and received a huge bouquet of beautiful cut flowers as an appreciation of his official inspection.

Captain Max Reibscheid, chairman of the committee on entertainment, made a farewell speech. Captain Reibscheid has been the prime mover in the new lodge to be instituted next Monday night and his membership is therefore withdrawn from Syracuse. After declaring that he was withdrawing with only good will for every member of Syracuse and that there was equal space on the floor of Pythianism for all lodges, he explained the high order of the membership of the new lodge and invited every member of the two lodges to be present Monday night to witness the fun. He stated that there would be work on new candidates every night for a month.

Chancellor R. Clyde Hall, of Syracuse lodge No. 111, proposed the toast: "Success to Pythianism and 10,000 Members in Colorado by August 1."

Among the visitors present were Captain Jack Grant and Lieutenant O. L. Barnes, of Pike's Peak company No. 2, Uniform Rank. Besides Captain Reibscheid, the members of the entertainment committee were Edgar Payton and L. M. Counts.

The officers installed were as follows: R. Clyde Hall, chancellor; R. Voight, vice chancellor; F. S. Russell, prelate; James Long, master of work; W. T. Ridenour, keeper of records and seals; H. Berger, master of finance; L. M. Counts, master of exchequer; August Johnson, master-at-arms; S. J. Waters, inner guard; Earl Ralston, outer guard. Arthur N. Peck was elected trustee.

GROCERY STORE SET ON FIRE BY THIEVES

Fire Chief F. G. Armbruster made a thorough examination of the grocery store of William Mulligan at 536 East Kiowa street with a view to ascertaining the origin of the fire which caused about $400 damage Wednesday night. The fire was caused, in the opinion of the chief, by thieves who entered the place through the rear door in an effort to rob the money drawer. The cash drawer was in the counter near the center of the store, and the counter and flooring beneath it were burned through. There was no oil in the vicinity of the counter, but several burned matches were found upon the flooring. The property was insured for $1,500 in a company represented by H. F. Avery, and it is understood that the loss amounting to about $400 will be paid.

AFTER DIGESTION—WHAT?

It's not enough to digest your food, and reduce it to pulp or liquid inside you, but it must also be properly absorbed, carried to the proper organs, filtered, purified and carried by your blood to the various parts of your body which are worn out and stand in need of repair.

This is a system of complicated machinery, engineering, chemistry and physics, before which all of man's most wonderful achievements since the world began, pale into insignificance.

And, when you come to think of it next to the marvel of any complicated piece of mechanism itself, is the man who, when it has broken down, can repair it and make it go again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A perfect medicine, which never fails to cure, or set in running order again, the complicated mechanism of man's internal digestive arrangements.

The secret of the great success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, is simply this, that they have been prepared upon the firm foundation of the most thorough research into the real origin and cause of all disorders, due to the improper digestion and absorption of food.

Knowing the cause, further research led to the knowledge of how to relieve and cure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only medicine founded upon certain scientific rules of treatment, which make success a certainty.

They penetrate into all the channels of your being, into the minutest arteries, the tiniest lymphatics, the faintest tracery of nerve tissue, and renew, build up, refresh and restore to health, every disorder, which improper food, poor digestion, or incomplete absorption has caused, in any portion of your anatomy.

No need to consult a physician.

On the least pain or discomfort, in stomach, liver, back, or bowels, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

For any craving for improper food, continual hunger, continual thirst, or loss of appetite in greater or lesser form, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

By following these simple rules, you will save yourself much pain, suffering and discomfort, and will add greatly to your span of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you live long and happily.

The Natural Food Co. of Niagara Falls, N. Y., extends a cordial invitation to the ladies of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou to visit their headquarters which have been established at the store of the Petty Dry Goods company.

We want you to meet our representative who is not a salesLady, and therefore not soliciting orders, but is to be an Instructor who desires an opportunity of meeting you to show the many practical dishes which may be made with Shredded Whole Wheat products. She has facilities for serving many of these dishes daily so that you may at once appreciate how delicious and nutritious they are and ascertain just how they are prepared.

Shredded Wheat is as much a winter as a summer food because it develops natural body warmth, can be served in a variety of ways, is ever-appetizing and very quickly and easily prepared either as a breakfast dish or for lunch or dinner.

Stickney's "New Tariff" Cigar 5c.

Particular smokers are already gathering great comfort from the new commercial treaty between the United States and Cuba.

That treaty reduced the duty on tobacco grown in Cuba and made it possible for us to produce a cigar of ten-cent quality for just half that price.

Stickney's "New Tariff" cigar for 5 cents could not have been made and sold for less than 10 cents straight before that treaty went into effect.

It's a rich, satisfying smoke that has its own characteristic flavor.

The "New Tariff" cigar is the product of a splendidly organized system that covers all the various processes of planting, cultivating, harvesting, curing, grading and more especially a wholly new and revolutionary process of blending the various qualities of leaf required for making a perfect cigar. This one process of blending makes all the difference between an ideal smoke and a poor one.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Confirmation of the reported strike in the Shurtloff property of the Findley company, combined with the news of the settlement of the long existing litigation between Carlton and Milliken, caused Findley to be in demand at stiffening prices, on the mining exchange yesterday. Under sale of 15,200 shares the price rose to 82 cents. The depressing effect of rumored suits some weeks ago caused the stock to drop to 70 at one time, but this was of short duration, and it has been hovering about 73. Within the past few days the price has been going up.

Mary Nevin led the prospects, with 28,000 sold at 6⅞. Banner was strong at 4⅞. The total shares were 145,500.

BIG MINING CO. IS ORGANIZED

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 4.—Cripple Creek, Colo., and Searchlight, Nevada, are joined financially in the organization of the Pay Rock Consolidated Mines company, which was perfected at a meeting of its promoters in Denver yesterday. The company owns the Illinois group of 30 acres in the saddle between Rhyolite and Tenderfoot hills, the Golden Age group of 40 acres on Raven hill, and 20 acres in Quartz hill in this district, with 70 acres in the Searchlight district in Nevada.

The capitalization of the company is 3,000,000 shares, having a par value of 25 cents each. Directors for the first year are W. T. Payne, I. R. Shaw, Jas. Parfet, S. Payne, John Culley and Messrs. Berlcke and Bennett. The directors elected W. T. Payne president, I. R. Shaw, vice president and treasurer, Mr. Bennett, secretary, Jas. Parfet, superintendent, and John Culley, assistant superintendent. Preparations are being made for operations in both states.

CRIPPLE CREEK GOLD OUTPUT BEATS WORLD

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 4.—An interesting statement has been kindly made by George E. Roberts, director of the mint, under telegraphic date of Washington, D. C., concerning the value of the gold production of California and Nevada during the year 1905. It is stated by Mr. Roberts that gold worth $17,500,000 was extracted from California ore, while gold worth $3,000,000 was taken from Nevada ore.

The annual reports of production in Colorado show a gold yield of $24,535,057 during the year ended Sunday. According figures from the same source it is shown that the gold production of Colorado exceeded that of California and Nevada together by $3,935,057.

As most of Colorado's gold was mined in the Cripple Creek district last year it seems safe to presume that the output of the Cripple Creek district alone exceeded the combined output of California and Nevada.

CAUSED ALARM

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Jacob H. Schiff, head of the influential banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., sent tremors through the speculative fabric of the stock market today by the utterance of the opinion that unless something was done to improve the currency system of this country there would be a panic to which all panics which had gone before would seem as child's play.

The sensational terms of this utterance and the bulletin form in which the knowledge of it first came to the stock market precipitated heavy liquidation which broke prices with some violence and caused a weak and disorderly closing.

The violent slump in Anaconda and Amalgamated Copper were of special influence in unsettling sentiment. Previous to the appearance of the report of Mr. Schiff's remarks the market had fallen into a condition of dullness and almost of neglect. The distinct progress towards relaxation from the money stringent awakened little response in the speculation. The volume of transactions fell to the smallest total in many weeks past. Some part of this undoubtedly was due to the fact of interruptions of wire communications with outside cities by the storm prevalent especially to the south and west.

Stock exchange commission houses are feeling the weight of a discontent amongst customers more portentous than has been for many years over the interest charges during December. There can be no doubt that there have been extensive withdrawals or speculative accounts during this week by operators disgusted with the December interest rates.

Disappointment is felt also over the small outside demand which had developed for stocks. There are growing doubts as well as to the extent to which the relaxation in the money market is likely to proceed. The retention of funds at this center is believed to depend largely on the maintenance of attractive interest rates. The strong demand for money is seen to be common at present all over the world. Only high grade commercial paper sells as low as 6 per cent in the New York market and loans on time for the shorter periods continue to command a considerable premium. In foreign markets, as the release of accumulated funds proceeds through the annual settlements, it becomes manifest that measures will be sustained for mutual protection against demands from one another. Serious account evidently is taken of the coming conference on Morocco and the reports of extensive precautionary military preparations induce some to pause in speculation to see the outcome more clearly.

The Paris market seems determined to maintain its unusually high level of bank reserves and the bank of England is reported to be preparing to borrow money from the open market with the purpose of keeping up the interest rate as a protection against outside demands. Very large repayments of call loans were reported as being made on the stock exchange today and this had a natural effect on easing the rates in this department. The hesitation reflected in the narrow fluctuations of the day gave way to the acute weakness only after the appearance of the report of Mr. Schiff's speech.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,670,000. United States old 4s coupon declined ⅛ per cent on call.

FIRM AT CLOSING

Trading in Wheat Was Generally Favorable to Bulls. Corn Also Steady.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—News of the day was generally favorable to the bulls. Advices from Argentina were somewhat conflicting, but the unfavorable reports seemed to carry the greater weight.

Other influences that increased the demand for wheat here were the Russian situation and rumors of a possible war between France and Germany. A small advance in the price of wheat at Liverpool had a bullish influence at the opening of the market. Another encouraging feature to the bulls was an improved demand for cash wheat at the principal grain centers of the United States.

The chief encouragement for the bears during the day was found in Bradstreet's report of the world's visible supply of wheat which showed an increase of 7,500,000 bushels. This brought a fair considerable short selling by local traders at about the middle of the session but many of these covered later at higher prices. Several leading longs were persistent buyers during the day.

The market closed firm. The range on May for the day was between 88⅝ and 89⅞. The opening was up a shade to ¼ at 88⅝ to 88⅞. Final quotations showed a gain of 1⅝@1¾ at 88⅞.

Wet weather was the chief cause for a firm market for corn. Commission houses were active bidders throughout the day but offerings were not large. Primary receipts today were 838,000 bushels compared with 1,154,000 bushels for the corresponding day one year ago. This falling off in movement stimulated the demand. The close was firm with prices at the highest point of the day. May opened unchanged to ⅛ higher at 44½ to 44⅝ sold up to 44⅞ and closed at the top. Local receipts were 192 cars with four of contract grade.

Trading in oats was quiet and offerings were not large. May opened a shade higher at 32½, sold up to 32⅝ and closed at 32½. The provision market was strong on active bidding by packers and local bulls. At the close, May pork was up 17½ at $13.95. Lard was up 7½@10c at $7.60. Ribs were 10c higher at $7.50.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place," writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn. "She was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bedside forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request, Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." PERSONAL

IN THE SUIT OF JAMES DOYLE VS. JAMES F. BURNS.

I feel that in the state of Colorado there are a hundred people, or more, familiar with the personal relations existing between James F. Burns and myself during the years 1891, 2 and 3, who would cheerfully aid and assist me with the facts that they are possessed of, but withhold them because they do not know how I would receive their tenders of the same. I want to say here that I will appreciate all such tenders, and receive them in the proper spirit. I am after all evidence that I can use to establish the fact that we were partners during the years mentioned. I wish to say that I am a long way from being licked, and hope to be able to offset the power of the money that belongs to me with which he is fighting me, by a mass of evidence that will make him lay down and do the right thing.

GOLDEN CYCLE DEAL HAS NOT BEEN CLOSED

Reports printed in an evening paper to the effect that a deal had been closed whereby the minority holders of Golden Cycle stock exchange their interests for the controlling stock of the Independence Consolidated, is flatly contradicted by H. McGarry, vice president and general manager of the Golden Cycle company, and Charles F. Potter, of Denver, who also holds material interests.

Messrs. McGarry and Potter say that the deal, as announced in The Gazette several weeks ago, is pending, but they also emphatically deny that it has been closed, and say that the outcome is problematical.
